
“The great object of our publications is to exalt God, to call men's attention to the living truths of His word. God calls upon us to lift up, not our own standard, not the standard of this world, but His standard of truth”
(Testimonies, vol. 7, p. 151).

Appreciation for your Prayers

“Christian greetings.

“We acknowledge receipt of your letter dated June 17, 2009, informing me and my fellow workers at the East African Union Mission of the day you will commit us before the Almighty God in prayers.

“We sincerely thank you for committing us before the Lord in prayer, and we will always pray for the Lord to continually guide and bless you in your work so that the mission may be accomplished through publishing God's Word for the whole world to read and be saved.

“Sincerely yours,

“Pastor M. P. Muasya

Title: Esther: Courage to Stand

Author: Trudy J. Morgan-Cole

She was stolen from her home on the whim of a king, simply because she was beautiful. It didn't matter to the soldiers that she didn't want to go—no one questioned the king's orders. She was now the king's property, and she could never leave the palace. Even if the king didn't want her.

But as it turned out, he did want her. So this once-carefree Jewish girl became the wife of a powerful pagan king. She was queen. There were plenty of other girls who had coveted the privilege, but Esther spent years wondering why God had allowed this to happen. What possible reason could there be for such a bizarre turn of events in her life?

Then one day the answer lay before her, shining and dangerous as a sword. Mordecai had finally found the answer she had been searching for, and he placed it in her hands.

This was her purpose. This is what she was here for. And somehow she had to find the courage to stand.
