“He has shown
you, O man, what is good; and what does the Lord
require of you but
to do justly, to love mercy, and to walk humbly with your God?”

Guarding Against Fraud

An e-mail message warning of credit card fraud has prompted the editor to share this information, gleaned from www.ftc.gov.

Here are some tips to help protect yourself from credit and charge card fraud.

Do:

- Sign your cards as soon as they arrive.
- Carry your cards separately from your wallet, in a zippered compartment, a business card holder, or another small pouch.
- Keep a record of your account numbers, their expiration dates, and the phone number and address of each company in a secure place.
- Keep an eye on your card during the transaction, and get it back as quickly as possible.
- Void incorrect receipts.
- Destroy carbons.
- Save receipts to compare with billing statements.
- Open bills promptly and reconcile accounts monthly, just as you would your checking account.
- Report any questionable charges promptly and in writing to the card issuer.

- Notify card companies in advance of a change in address.

Don't:

- Lend your card(s) to anyone.
- Leave cards or receipts lying around.
- Sign a blank receipt. When you sign a receipt, draw a line through any blank spaces above the total.
- Write your account number on a postcard or the outside of an envelope.
- Give out your account number over the phone unless you're making the call to a company you know is reputable. If you have questions about a company, check it out with your local consumer protection office or Better Business Bureau.

Moms, Do Something Tasty and Healthful—Eat a Pear

With the kids back in school and the holidays a heartbeat away, this is a busy time for mothers everywhere. While you're busy taking care of the family and work, you might forget to take care of yourself. But this busy fall season there's an easy and delicious way to do something good for your health—eat a pear.

As the weather cools, pears become plentiful, offering a bounty of crisp flavor and health benefits, including the chance to reduce your risk of cardiovascular disease. A recent study in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition cited pears as a food that may help reduce cardiovascular risk among postmenopausal women.

Pears contain flavonoids and anthocyanins that are believed to be linked to heart health. They are also an excellent source of fiber, another nutrient known to combat heart disease and promote digestive health. Pears are naturally cholesterol- and sodium-free, and contain just one gram of fat. A California Bartlett pear has just 100 calories and packs a powerful punch of vitamin C and potassium.

For ideas and recipes to incorporate pears into your diet, visit www.calpear.com.—Courtesy of ARAcontent.
